Further, the work to prepare the Presentation did not include a detailed review of any transactions, and cannot be expected to identify errors, irregularities or illegal acts, including fraud or defalcations that may exist. In addition, any references to estimated value or recoveries included in this Presentation are preliminary in nature, provided for informational purposes only, subject to material change and not valuations of any kind. It is expected that there will be differences between estimated and actual results, because events and circumstances frequently do not occur as expected, and these differences may be material. Nature and Limitations of Presentation

1. On January 17, 2023, the FTX Debtors presented preliminary information to the Official Committee of Creditors on the FTX Debtors' consolidated assets, recovery efforts and other matters. The presentation was made public on the same day and is available at <https://restructuring.ra.kroll.com/FTX/>
2. This second presentation of preliminary information, part of what the FTX Debtors anticipate will be a series, shows digital assets and fiat associated with the exchanges at commencement (the "Petition Time") of the chapter 11 case for FTX Trading Ltd., the owner and operator of FTX.COM ("FTX Trading"), and West Realm Shires Financial Services, Inc., the owner and operator of FTX.US ("WRSFS"), excluding digital assets and/or fiat associated with the Japan, Cyprus and Singapore exchanges, and with Alameda or other FTX Debtors.
3. The FTX Debtors' analysis is ongoing, and complicated by the incomplete nature of the books and records maintained by pre-petition management. As a result, the information in this presentation is preliminary and subject to material change as new, additional or conflicting information is identified, and it should not be relied upon for any purpose. The FTX Debtors are disclosing this presentation at this time because they determined that the need for transparency, and to ensure that all stakeholders have roughly contemporaneous access to the preliminary information as it develops, outweighs the interest in delaying disclosure until the relevant information is no longer reasonably subject to change.
4. In particular, it is not possible to calculate or predict customer recoveries based on the preliminary information in this presentation. Among other reasons:
 - The presentation does not attempt to adjust for commingling of assets or insider access to assets, which may be the subject of future, material adjustments.
 - Actual recoveries will depend on many facts and factors, including (a) the extent of other assets and liabilities of FTX Trading and WRSFS, (b) the nature of intercompany payables and receivables, (c) claims and causes of action, (d) the resolution of numerous legal issues, (e) recoveries from the liquidation, sale or reorganization of over a hundred companies comprising the FTX group globally, and (f) fluctuations in the value of assets.

Assumptions and Notes on Analysis

1. Tokens have been broken down into two categories:
 - a) “Category A Assets” are tokens with (i) a market capitalization of at least $15M and (ii) an average daily trading volume of at least $1M during the past 30 days, in each case measured at February 2, 2023.
 - b) “Category B Assets” are tokens that do not satisfy the test for Category A Assets or which are largely held and/or controlled by the estate.
2. Digital assets and/or fiat associated with the Japan, Cyprus and Singapore exchanges, and with Alameda or other FTX Debtors, are excluded.
3. All pricing is as of the Petition Time based on preliminary information from CoinMarketCap (“Petition Time Pricing”). Petition Time Pricing may not reflect the actual market value of positions, especially for Category B Assets, or the valuation to be used by the FTX Debtors for other purposes.
4. Certain tokens carried at fixed values are excluded entirely because they do not have an active trading market (FTX Equity, West Realm Equity, etc.).
5. To simplify the presentation, certain internal accounts are excluded from the analysis and related party and third party accounts have been netted where considered appropriate based on current information.
6. As previously noted, the information set forth in this presentation is preliminary and subject to material change as new, additional or conflicting information is identified. As a result, the information should not be relied upon for any purpose including, but not limited to, estimating recoveries in the FTX Debtors’ Chapter 11 cases.

Preliminary Takeaways

1

The FTX Debtors have identified and inventoried substantially all wallets associated with the FTX.COM and FTX.US exchanges. Both exchanges generally held digital assets in sweep wallets which were not segregated for individual customers.

2

FTX's pre-petition management used the FTX.COM and FTX.US sweep wallets to store, borrow and lend digital assets for the proprietary account of the FTX Debtors and a large number of related parties, including employees, suppliers, vendors and business partners, as well as exchange customers.

3

There is a massive shortfall at the FTX.COM exchange at the Petition Time, defined as the difference between digital asset claims on the ledger of FTX.COM and digital assets available to satisfy those claims. The shortfall is especially pronounced for Category A Assets. Only a small amount of cash, stablecoin, BTC, ETH and other Category A Assets remain in wallets preliminarily sourced to the FTX.COM exchange.

4

The shortfall is smaller at FTX.US, but still significant. In addition to FTX.US customers, other FTX Debtors and related parties maintained a $128 million (net) receivable position from FTX.US at the Petition Time. Accordingly, creditors of other FTX Debtors, including FTX.COM customers, may have an indirect interest in assets at the FTX.US exchange.

5

Prior to the FTX Debtors obtaining custody of digital assets from pre-petition management, unauthorized transfers removed an additional $293 million from wallets preliminarily sourced to the FTX.COM exchange and $139 million from wallets preliminarily sourced to the FTX.US exchange.
